In July, there were not many speed signs as there are now to indicate the new 40km/h zones and no warnings were issued. The offences that happened in July should be waived. A lot of us were actually going under 50km/h or under 55km/h even if we thought this was a 60 zone. There was no communication during the grace period to warn us and the infringements arrive normally a week after the offence so there is no time to adjust.

July was the month where the signs were not enough and there were no warnings in the grace period before, therefore, please consider that July was an adjustment month and those infringements were the warnings and waive them. I am a good driver and this is very unfair. Please treat us citizens fairly.
