Attention: Veronica Strkalj

I am strongly opposed to high rise buildings as a replacement for the Bega and Allawah Flats. While I will be delighted to see the end of these two complexes, I believe they should be replaced with two, three or four (at the most) storied buildings. You must admit, the eight storied Currong Flats would have to be one of the biggest eyesores in Canberra and the thought of the multi-storied buildings the ACT Government is proposing is really frightening.

This would be an excellent opportunity for the ACT Government to clean up what I consider to be slum areas and make the living standards far more pleasant for the tenants.
