Dear Annemieke,

I have only just become aware of this enquiry and I hope that it is not too late to provide input.

I regularly travel to Melbourne on business and there is a great contrast between the clean, advertising and billboard free environment of Canberra and the cluttered and visually polluting signage of other cities.

There is no benefit for Canberra's residents or visitors in posting advertising on billboards or additional advertising on buildings. There are many forms of less intrusive and more targeted advertising available and these are already exploited by marketers. I personally do not want to see advertising erected on billboards anywhere in the ACT, it is not needed.

Keep our territory free of billboards and maintain our unique bush capital heritage for our children also to enjoy.

Thankyou, Tim
