RE: Inquiry into Billboards

Dear Sir/Madam,

I write in relation to the Inquiry into Billboards in the ACT. I fully support the decision to allow more billboards in key locations around the territory, especially if they bring in more public revenue.

Cities are living vibrant things, and billboards and advertising are just one part of this. I have no desire to live in an ACT locked in a 'Griffin Plan' time capsule, and am happy to see the city grow, becomes more dense, mature and vibrant. And yes, this does mean it may be 'messy' at times, but that's okay - it shows the city and territory as being alive!

Finally, given the Territory's problems with revenue base, this seems an ideal way to supplement public income.

To those who say they are unsightly, don't look! And those who say they 'block views of the Brindabellas' - really?! There are plenty of places, and will continue to be plenty of places, for great bush views in our Capital.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Peter Balint
