I have since divorced her, & relocated from Canberra. Late October 2021: I began doing Google searches on her known mobile number & email address. The results showing revealed depths of depravity & darkness that are reason for concern. The concerning thing evident to me is P05. In 2019, as well as near the end of 2018, she suddenly made money appear for an initial deposit for an apartment & another car. Her patterns re spending make this odd. Impulsive spender who spends whenever wherever & who doesn’t manage money well. I was who managed money well. The period of time during 2019 when a deposit was needed for an apartment, matches with P05 connected to her mobile phone number. Known mobile number: P03 Known email address: P03 Currently, the email address Google search results show more than does the mobile number, although both are still alarming. I also found 2 other seemingly connected numbers: P03 & P03 She has fingerprint access to her phone. She only ever showed me what she chose to. There may be apps to hide apps on her phone. It’s also apparently easy to connect fake other numbers to your known number. I experienced her unhingement during 2021. Which led me to identifying I was dealing with a disordered person who I couldn’t change. So all I then could do was to cut my losses & leave.

emails? Are you prepared to provide a copy?

I have emails between me and the person involved, and a file called "The Evidence" relating to what happened over an extended period of time. Also, evidence re financial abuse from this person in regards to me.
